Dialogue with the Labor Union

NRI retains a union shop contract with the Nomura Research Institute Labor Union. The union has 2,998 members as of March 31, 2009. During collective bargaining and informal meetings, NRI discusses a broad range of issues with the union, including compensation, human resource management and the work environment. In fiscal 2008, discussions with the union focused on human resource development and work environment improvement.

The union conducts an annual employee awareness survey of all members to ascertain their views and the actual status of working conditions, and also send out a questionnaire on the work environment. The results of this survey, as well as the issues identified in divisional meetings, roundtables and seminars, are reported to company management for use in drafting various measures.

Career Development Support Program

C&A Program to Support Skills Development

The NRI Group has established the Challenge & Act (C&A) program to support employees' voluntary and systematic skills development.

In the C&A program, managers meet regularly with specialists and trainees to set individual goals and review and assess achievements. Performance goals are set at the beginning of the fiscal year and again six months later, while skills development goals are set only at the beginning of the fiscal year. Progress on these goals is regularly reviewed during each six-month period, with supervisors guiding employees in achieving their goals. This system supports the development of employees according to their own aspirations and character.

C&A Program Outline

AHEAD Program

NRI supports its employees' career development with its Assist, Human Expertise, Ability and Development (AHEAD) program, an internal diagnostics survey of human resource training in each department. These results are analyzed, and the supervisor's guidance and training of his/her subordinates is ascertained in each organization. This has proved helpful in raising awareness about employee skills development.

Aspiration Program

The NRI Group has established an "aspiration program" enabling all employees to meet directly with the Personnel Department manager every six months to discuss issues related to current work responsibilities, workplace environment and future career path. This program is used to support employees' self-development and ensure that the right employee is assigned to the right position.
